

The do not call list should remain in effect. Particularly given the top complaint is phone solicitor calls. What would be the point to rescind this knowing that millions of citizens have signed up requesting NOT to be called.

I have a non-published number and pay $7 per month to not be bothered by nuisance sellers and those that sell consumer information so sellers can compile databases to spam and solicit users.